

DEPARTMENT OF INSTRUMENTATION AND CONTROL ENGINEERING

INTRODUCTION

The Society of Instrumentation professionals was established in the year 1970, with headquarters at Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore. Today it has six chapters at Delhi, Chennai, Hyderabad, Dehradun, Pune and cochin. It strives to act as a link between academic institutions and the instrumentation industry, by organizing several programs. It also conducts programs for students and working professionals in the form of short term courses, symposia and topical reviews.

To provide a forum for pooling the knowledge and experience of individuals, participants from scientific institutions and industrial organizations interested in promoting development of instruments and instrumentation systems.

To act as an exchange bureau for dissemination of technical information in the industries as well as in research institutions, of the requirements in the field of instrumentation by the industries and the educational and scientific institutions mutually.

OBJECTIVES OF THE SOCIETY

To organize liaison between interested entrepreneurs with technical problems in their instrumentation activities and the experts who offer to act as consultants, and To engage in such activities as shall contribute towards promoting instrumentation activities.
